Induction programme

The induction program serves to create a welcoming environment for freshers, helping them to understand their roles and responsibilities while fostering a sense of community within the institution. IQAC-organized induction program for fresher students is to introduce them to the institution's values, academic expectations, and support systems. IQAC also extended support to organise induction programme for each department at department level.

Bridge course

Bridge course typically helps students adjust from high school to college-level work or transition between different academic programs. IQAC ensures that bridge courses meet the necessary academic standards and align with the institution's educational goals. IQAC often collects feedback from students who participate in bridge courses to assess their effectiveness and identify areas for improvement. IQAC monitors the outcomes of bridge courses, evaluating their impact on student performance and retention rates.

All the departments are successfully completed bridge course of the academic year 2023-24, subsequently identified the advanced learners and slow learners, and conducted programmes at the department level.

Research and Innovation

The Research and Innovation Cell (RIC) of Sullamussalam Arabic College has been actively working towards creating a research-driven academic environment in line with the institutional vision of fostering creativity, innovation, and scientific inquiry. The cell has been instrumental in promoting research activities, encouraging faculty and students to engage in meaningful research, and facilitating the development of a robust innovation ecosystem.

Despite the significant progress, some challenges were encountered during the academic year:

- Funding Constraints: Securing adequate funding for high-end research projects and long-term research infrastructure remained a challenge.
- Research Collaboration Limitations: The COVID-19 pandemic and travel restrictions affected international collaboration and participation in conferences.
- Balancing Research with Teaching: Faculty members faced time constraints balancing their academic responsibilities with research activities.

The Research and Innovation Cell has outlined several strategies for the coming years to further strengthen the research culture:

- Focus on Interdisciplinary Research: Encourage collaborative research across different disciplines to address complex global issues such as climate change, sustainable energy, and healthcare.
- Increase Industry Collaborations: Forge more industry-academic partnerships to bridge the gap between research and industry applications.
- Innovation and Entrepreneurship Expansion: Expand the scope of the Innovation Cell, focusing on transforming research into viable products and services, and enhancing the startup incubation process.
- International Research Collaborations: Strengthen partnerships with global universities and research bodies to foster international research collaborations.

The Faculty Development Programs conducted by Sullamussalam Arabic College in the academic year 2023-2024 have significantly contributed to the professional growth of faculty members. By focusing on enhancing teaching methodologies, research capabilities, and soft skills, the institution has successfully created an environment conducive to academic excellence. Moving forward, the FDC will continue to organize a wide range of FDPs to meet the evolving needs of the faculty and ensure that the institution remains at the forefront of academic and professional development.

IQAC-Department Interface Meetings

The IQAC and Department Interface Meetings are structured interactions between the IQAC and different departments of an institution. These meetings are designed to enhance the quality of education, streamline processes, and ensure continuous improvement in academic and administrative functions.
